

SUSTAINING THE SOUND

2025 ANNUAL IMPACT REPORT

HAAM IS AUSTIN'S SOUND INVESTMENT

LETTER FROM HAAM LEADERSHIP

Austin may be known for being weird, but we're also a city of music lovers who believe in the goodness of humanity, the strength of diversity, and our shared responsibility to keep our musicians healthy.

Twenty years ago, HAAM's visionary founder Robin Shivers and a group of music lovers took a leap of faith and launched a plan that represented Austin at its finest. That plan was to provide a healthcare safety net for Austin's uninsured working musicians.

In the early days, HAAM members had access to primary medical care at a handful of clinics operated by Ascension Seton, dental care from the St. David's Foundation mobile van, and mental health counseling through SIMS. Over the years, HAAM has grown in both membership and services. Twenty years later, I am proud to report that thanks to your ongoing, generous support:

- 95% of HAAM members were insured in 2025.
- 87% of eligible HAAM members received help from HAAM paying for their monthly insurance costs.
- 100% of HAAM members have access to comprehensive wellness benefits, including discounted YMCA memberships, chiropractic care, acupuncture, and massage.

We have come a long way, and Austin is stronger and more vibrant because of your support.

As we look to the next 20 years, HAAM is focused on critical issues: improving the quality of life for musicians to keep them rooted here in Central Texas; leveraging preventive care to improve the actual health outcomes of HAAM members; and remaining nimble to weather economic uncertainties.

These issues form the foundation of HAAM's newly adopted 2026-2028 strategic plan. HAAM will work diligently with our partners, especially our Community Partners in Care—Ascension Seton, Central Health, St. David's Foundation, and Waterloo Audiology—to address these issues and bring HAAM's new mission statement to life. We invite you to join us.

The mission of the Health Alliance for Austin Musicians (HAAM) is to provide Austin-area musicians access to affordable health, wellness, and prevention services to strengthen their quality of life in support of our vibrant music culture.

Despite increased challenges, we are working to ensure that our members continue to have access to affordable insurance coverage and highly personalized healthcare navigation.

We'll sign off with a message from Thor Harris, a longtime HAAM member:

"If you want to keep Austin a really interesting and vibrant place to live, helping musicians afford to live here is a good place to start. HAAM is the jewel in what keeps Austin liveable for musicians."

Fondly,

Paul E. Scott, Chief Executive Officer

Nikelle Meade, Board Chair

HAAM STRATEGIC PLAN

2026-2028

HAAM'S STRATEGIC PLAN PILLARS & GOALS ARE THE BIG, IMPORTANT AREAS WHERE HAAM WANTS TO MAKE A REAL DIFFERENCE OVER THE NEXT 3 YEARS. THEY WILL GUIDE HAAM'S FOCUS AS AN ORGANIZATION AND DETERMINE WHERE HAAM PUTS ITS TIME, PEOPLE, AND MONEY.

CALIBRATE AND OPTIMIZE HEALTH SERVICES

GOAL → Improve health outcomes for musicians by strengthening & evolving HAAM's core health services to ensure they remain accessible, high quality & relevant to the evolving needs of musicians, DJs & music teachers.

SECURE SUSTAINABLE FUNDING

GOAL → Build a proactive, diversified financial model that supports long-term stability & growth.

PURSUE INNOVATIVE GROWTH

GOAL → Test & scale mission-aligned innovations that expand HAAM's reach, deepen impact & come with a sustainable resource strategy.

LEVERAGE STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

GOAL → Activate & expand partnerships that support service delivery & organizational effectiveness.

FOSTER A CULTURE OF BELONGING

GOAL → Ensure an inclusive, connected & collaborative culture for members, staff & board.

2005

HAAM

HAAM officially launches in March as a new nonprofit. By May, HAAM Board names Carolyn Schwarz Director of Services, HAAM's first employee, and by June, HAAM enrolls its 100th musician!

Some of HAAM's many early supporters include

ASCENSION SETON, SXSW, GSD&M, AND H-E-B.

AUSTIN

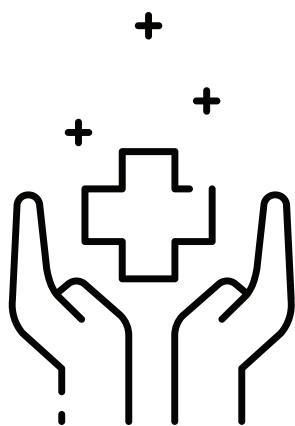

Austin voters approve citywide smoking ban in public places, including bars and music venues. Years later, artists Suzanna Choffel, Marcia Ball, Jackie Venson, Shinyribs, Gina Chavez, Betty Soo, and more celebrate the health benefits for musicians, venue staff, and music supporters.

"Austin's music community is the heartbeat of SXSW, and organizations like HAAM ensure that the people who make this city so vibrant can stay healthy and keep creating. We're proud to support their work and give back to the musicians who make Austin what it is." Brian Hobbs, SXSW VP of Music

NAOMI STINNETT

Before singer-songwriter Naomi joined HAAM in 2009, she was on the road nonstop, touring months at a time.

“Being on tour is a really hectic and brutal lifestyle. Sleeping on floors. Not knowing where you are going to be the next day,” she said.

During one whirlwind tour, Naomi began experiencing pain in her front tooth. She delayed seeking care and her tooth became infected. As soon as she arrived back home in Lockhart, Naomi joined HAAM.

“Even before my HAAM application was fully processed, HAAM made me an appointment with Dr. Shane Matt, who got me squared away and saved my tooth. I was so grateful,” she said.

Since becoming a HAAM member, Naomi has developed healthy habits like completing annual wellness checks and regular dental visits.

HAAM’s dental program provides up to $600 per year in dental care for HAAM members, although high demand means that program funds often run out before the end of the year.

Naomi has also used her HAAM wellness benefits for chiropractic care to help overcome back and neck problems related to years of performing and teaching the violin.

“The care I got was life-changing and allowed me to continue to teach and perform,” she said.

In 2025, Naomi noticed a spot on her eyebrow that didn’t heal after several months. She went to her primary care doctor who referred her to a dermatologist who performed a biopsy which revealed skin cancer. HAAM health navigators partnered with Naomi to help her find a surgeon specializing in MOHS skin cancer surgery at UT Health Austin.

MUSIC IS A CENTRAL PART OF AUSTIN’S CULTURE AND ECONOMY AND MUSICIANS ARE WHAT PUT AUSTIN ON THE MAP AS A CULTURAL DESTINATION. HAAM IS A VITAL RESOURCE, ESPECIALLY IN A CITY FULL OF MUSICIANS. IT KEEPS THE HEARTBEAT OF AUSTIN ALIVE BY KEEPING MUSICIANS IN GOOD HEALTH.

“In the case of my skin cancer surgery, my doctor said that the cancer could have spread to my eye. So this was life-changing for me to be able to get this surgery” she said. “Without HAAM, I wouldn’t be able to have access to healthcare unless I stopped being a musician and changed careers.”

ACCESS

Our team works year-round to help ensure that HAAM members have access to life-changing healthcare. Here's how we do it!

OPEN ENROLLMENT

Open Enrollment is the annual renewal period for HAAM membership which takes place each year from November 1 – December 15. During this time, HAAM members may enroll in Marketplace insurance plans (plans available on healthcare.gov through the Affordable Care Act), HAAM's Premium Assistance Program, or the Musician Primary Care Program offered through our partner H-E-B Wellness Primary Care.

In 2024, HAAM and our partner Foundation Communities' Prosper Health Coverage Program helped 2,257 HAAM members enroll in Marketplace insurance plans. Over the last eight years, the number of HAAM members enrolled in Marketplace insurance plans has grown by 67 percent!

Our goal is always to serve as many musicians as we possibly can. However, access to programs like premium assistance is tied to fundraising support.

Funds donated in 2025 directly impact how many members HAAM is able to support through our Premium Assistance Program.

PREMIUM ASSISTANCE

Securing health insurance is one thing, but many HAAM members need help paying premiums to ensure affordability and maintain continuous coverage. In fact, many of HAAM members cite "cost" as a primary barrier to healthcare access. HAAM members who enroll in a Marketplace health insurance plan through healthcare.gov may be eligible to receive help from HAAM to pay their monthly insurance premiums through one of two Premium Assistance Programs (PAP): HAAM PAP and Central Health PAP.

IN 2024, 85 PERCENT OF ELIGIBLE HAAM MEMBERS RECEIVED HELP WITH MARKETPLACE INSURANCE PREMIUM COSTS.

H-E-B CARES FOR UNINSURED MEMBERS

HAAM members who are uninsured may be eligible to enroll at no cost in HAAM's Musician Primary Care Program through H-E-B Wellness Primary Care. Launched in 2023, this program is a direct primary care program, not health insurance. HAAM members enrolled in the program receive unlimited primary healthcare visits at H-E-B Wellness Primary Care clinics, including basic lab testing, immunizations, and other limited care.

89% OF MEMBERS IN THE PROGRAM WOULD NOT HAVE GONE TO THE DOCTOR WITHOUT THE H-E-B WELLNESS PRIMARY CARE PROGRAM.

HOUSE PARTIES

Does the idea of hosting an intimate house party with curated live music sound like a dream come true? HAAM house parties offer music lovers the chance to host a fundraiser in their own home with dedicated support from HAAM staff. The concept is simple: hosts invite guests, provide food and promote the event. HAAM arranges live music, assists with scheduling, setup and even supplies beverages!

The fundraiser celebrates HAAM's 20th anniversary and runs through 2026. For more information about hosting an event, contact development@myhaam.org.

Thank you to our generous party hosts and performing musicians. Visit the digital report for a list of hosts and artists.

HAAM DAY MUSIC FESTIVAL

THE LARGEST ONE DAY, ALL LOCAL
MUSIC FESTIVAL IN THE WORLD

TWO-TIME AUSTIN
MUSIC AWARDS WINNER

John Kunz of Waterloo Records, together with HAAM founder Robin Shivers and HAAM's founding Board of Directors, organized the first HAAM Day in 2006—a 24-hour celebration filled with live music, community spirit, and good vibes. Conceived as HAAM's inaugural and largest annual fundraiser, the event invited Austinites to stuff musicians' tip jars, while local businesses pledged a portion of their day's sales to support HAAM. Over the years, HAAM Day has grown into a city-wide music festival—now known as HAAM Day Music Festival—but its purpose remains unchanged: to celebrate Austin's incredible music community while raising essential funds that help keep healthcare affordable and accessible for local musicians.

In 2025, HAAM Day Music Festival featured 400+ all-local musicians at over 120 venues across Central Texas. The brand new H-E-B flagship store in the heart of South Austin served as Music Festival headquarters. HAAM Day Music Festival has grown from raising $30,000 in the first year to more than $920,000 in its twentieth year.

“Giving back to the community is not only good for the community, it’s good for your business. When you publicly support HAAM, you are showing your customers who you are and what you believe in. It’s a win for HAAM, it’s a win for your business, and it’s a win for your customers.”

JOHN T KUNZ
HAAM FOUNDING BOARD MEMBER

HAAM DAY MEMORIES

“ON THE VERY FIRST HAAM DAY, ROBIN PICKED ME UP AT 8 AM IN A LIMOUSINE. WE HIT EVERY SINGLE VENUE FROM MORNING TO NIGHT AND ENDED UP AT ANTONE’S. WE SPENT THE DAY THANKING MUSICIANS AND LISTENING TO AMAZING MUSIC. AT ONE POINT WE STOPPED AT NEIMAN MARCUS AND ROBIN BOUGHT ME A LIPSTICK. IT WAS JUST THE MOST FUN DAY AND HAAM DAY ENDED UP BEING AN IMMEDIATE SUCCESS.”

Diane Resnik, founding board member

“MY BEST HAAM DAY MEMORY IS ONE OF THE YEARS WHEN GARY KELLER BROUGHT IN TODD RUNDGREN. I AM NORMALLY PRETTY RESTRAINED ABOUT ASKING FOR PHOTOS WITH MUSICIANS. BUT I WAS SUCH A BIG FAN OF TODD’S THAT I ASKED HIM IF I COULD PLEASE TAKE A PICTURE WITH HIM. HE SAID YES, BUT ONLY IF WE TOOK THE PICTURE IN THE BATHROOM.”

HAAM is a family affair for Jaime. He and Molly have insurance coverage with premium assistance from Central Health. Jaime uses HAAM's dental and vision care benefits and has attended HEAR Clinics to access custom earplugs. Navigators at HAAM also worked with Jaime to enroll his three children in Medicaid. When Molly was pregnant her insurance covered prenatal care, her delivery and postnatal care.

IN 2025, OVER 220 DEPENDENTS WERE COVERED UNDER HAAM MEMBER INSURANCE PLANS. YOUR SUPPORT HELPS HAAM MEMBERS ACCESS AFFORDABLE PLANS THAT COVER THEIR FAMILIES.

Jaime credits HAAM with providing him and other Austin musicians a sense of protection and freedom to pursue a music career in an increasingly expensive city. Even though Superfónicos is highly successful, like most HAAM members, Jaime and his bandmates have several side jobs.

"In the nine years I've lived in Austin, it hasn't gotten any easier to be a musician," he said. "But by taking away the concern about affording healthcare, HAAM is giving mental space for musicians to create music and stay in Austin," he said.

JAIME OSPINA

Growing up in Bogotá, Colombia, during the mid-eighties, HAAM musician Jaime Ospina was entranced by American and British rock, but longed for music in his native Spanish. At age 14 Jaime started singing in bands; a few years later, he learned to play bass.

During college, Jaime studied engineering by day and played with top Colombian bands at night. After a few years in school, he had the opportunity to pursue music full-time.

"A college friend, who later became a top producer based in Miami, invited me to play in a band. At the time, I was living a double life as a student and musician, so I decided to give myself a year to see if I could make a career," Jaime said.

Fast forward to 2025, and Jaime is the lead singer, songwriter, and gaita (traditional Colombian flute) player for the Afro-Caribbean funk band Superfónicos, playing to massive crowds at Austin City Limits and Formula One and more intimate ones at venues like the Sahara Lounge.

Jaime became a HAAM member within days of moving to Austin in 2016 with his wife, Molly. The day he arrived in Austin, he met up with several top Colombian musicians, all HAAM members, including Nico Sanchez, Superfónicos' bass player.

"In a matter of hours, I was rehearsing with some of the best Colombian musicians in the city," he said. "A few days later, I signed up for HAAM."

Paula is a Brazilian jazz musician who has released 12 albums under her own record label and has engineered and produced several of her albums. Her latest album Rio de Janeiro (2024) was produced by Teo Lima, a legendary Latin Grammy-winning Brazilian musician, and mastered by Latin Grammy-winning Brazilian engineers.

Her popular residency at the Sahara Lounge draws an international crowd, including a growing number of Brazilians. In 2024, Paula won the Global Music Awards Silver Medal for Best Instrumentalist.

While living in Seattle, Paula was uninsured, but shortly after moving to Austin, she joined HAAM. She now sees her doctor for an annual wellness visit, uses HAAM dental and vision benefits, and has a YMCA membership.

“Before HAAM, I hadn’t been to the dentist in ten years. For many years, I didn’t go to the doctor at all,” she said.

This year, Paula credits having insurance for saving her life. Two days before a scheduled trip to Brazil, Paula landed in the hospital for a 6-night stay due to severe respiratory symptoms.

“I woke up at 3 am having trouble breathing,” she said. “If I hadn’t had insurance, I could have died because I probably wouldn’t have gone to the hospital.”

Like 87% percent of HAAM members, Paula receives help paying her monthly insurance premiums. In fact, she currently pays $0 a month in premiums thanks to the Central Health Premium Assistance Program (PAP).

PAULA MAYA

HAAM musician Paula Maya moved from Brazil to the United States over 30 years ago. Her earliest memories of the United States were weak coffee and a 3-day bus journey from Miami to Houston where she spent four months before moving to Seattle for 17 years.

In 2007, Paula attended her first SXSW festival and was instantly hooked on Austin.

CORPORATE BATTLE OF THE BANDS

The idea of Corporate Battle of the Bands was hatched at happy hour in 2008 at the iconic Headliners Club. Founding board member Tim Taylor introduced Carolyn Schwarz, HAAM's Founding Executive Director, to Dan Connolly and Volney Campbell, both businessmen and amateur musicians. The idea was simple, yet innovative. Give Austin's corporate rockstars the opportunity to play on a big stage—for a donation.

This year's event drew a record crowd of 1,250 music lovers to the iconic ACL Live venue, raising nearly $280,000 for HAAM, translating to $1.9 million in healthcare services.

COMMUNITY

At HAAM, all are welcome! Here's what community means to us and how you can join our community!

HONORING OUR COMMUNITY PARTNERS IN CARE

Fulfilling our mission would not be possible without our extraordinary network of healthcare providers who give generously of their time, talent, and expertise. Each in-kind service represents not only a treatment but a profound act of community care. Together, our partners embody HAAM's core value of belonging — ensuring that Austin's musicians are seen, heard, and cared for.

As part of our 20-year legacy and our ongoing commitment to cultivating a culture of altruistic care, we recognize these providers whose contributions make music in Austin both possible and sustainable. Every hour of care donated through HAAM's provider network creates measurable health outcomes for Austin's creative community — from preventive dental work and primary care visits to mental-health sessions and hearing loss prevention.

These in-kind contributions:

- Extend access to essential healthcare for working musicians below 400% Federal Poverty Line.
- Reduce the strain on local safety-net systems and emergency rooms.
- Preserve the cultural fabric that makes Austin the Live Music Capital of the World.

THE VALUE OF IN-KIND CONTRIBUTIONS FROM PROVIDERS JUMPED FROM $115,000 IN 2005 TO OVER $19 MILLION IN 2025.

In celebrating our partners, HAAM also reaffirms its belief that community health and creative vitality are deeply intertwined — and that generosity, when shared, keeps both alive.

PANCAKES + HAAM QUESO + HAAM

The life of a musician can be isolating. That's one reason why HAAM provides warm and inviting spaces at HAAM HQ where all musicians feel like they belong. Every month, HAAM HQ hosts community-building member events like our popular Pancakes + HAAM and new in 2025, Queso + HAAM. These events not only provide an opportunity for members to network and connect with fellow members, they offer a comfortable space to ask questions about HAAM programs and services, whether it be how to find a therapist or where to get an eye or hearing exam. Special thank you to the Episcopal Health Foundation and the St. David's Foundation for supporting these community-building events.

PEARL SOCIETY

Beyond VIP concert access and members-only events, Pearl Society members join an exclusive community of music lovers and philanthropists who understand that protecting Austin's musicians means protecting our city's heartbeat.

Pearl Society honors HAAM's visionary founder, Robin Shivers, who revolutionized healthcare access for Austin's music community. The society's name reflects Robin's signature pearl necklaces – a symbol of both her elegant spirit and enduring legacy. Though she passed away unexpectedly in 2009, Robin's impact continues through HAAM's mission.

Joining the Pearl Society with an annual gift starting at $100 per month or $1250 annually allows HAAM to be nimble and responsive to the ever-changing healthcare landscape and the most pressing needs of our members.

HAAM has introduced new perks with Gold, Diamond, and Platinum memberships. Supporters can choose to give a monthly, sustaining membership gift, or give annually. All you have to do is pick which membership level best suits you at either the monthly or annual level!

PLATINUM | $400/MO OR $5,000/YR

DIAMOND | $200/MO OR $2,500/YR

GOLD | $100/MO OR $1,250/YR

VOICE CLINIC & SEMINAR

Did you know that over half of HAAM musicians are vocalists? To help our musicians protect their vocal health and minimize occupational risks such as vocal cord diseases, HAAM partners with top experts to offer an annual voice seminar and clinic. On April 16, on World Voice Day, HAAM collaborated with Dr. Chad Whited and Dr. Michael Yium with Austin Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic; Dr. Rosemary Lester-Smith with UT Voice Clinic; and Erik Landry, M.S. CCC-SLP of Vocodojo Voice Center.

HAAM also hosted its Voice Screening Clinic on March 28 at HAAM Headquarters. During this free screening, graduate clinicians from UT's Speech & Hearing Center, supervised by licensed and certified speech-language pathologists, provided oral examinations of the mouth and throat and recorded their voice for acoustical analysis.

HEAR CLINICS

Ask any HAAM member to name a "favorite" HAAM benefit and chances are you'll hear all about their custom ear plugs. First started in 2009, HAAM HEAR Clinics offer members access to custom ear plugs and so much more to promote lifelong hearing health. Thankfully, this valuable HAAM benefit will continue through our new audiology partner, Waterloo Audiology. Led by Kelli House, M.A. with support from her wife and HAAM Board Member Soriya Estes, AuD. Waterloo Audiology carries forward the legacy of Estes Audiology, one of HAAM's original partners. HAAM members will still receive the same outstanding care they've come to trust, with all the expertise and understanding that comes from 16 years of serving Austin's music community.

AUSTIN

Studies report that Austin's live music industry has grown into a $1.8 billion economic driver attracting visitors worldwide.

Iconic Waterloo Records moves to a new location on North Lamar.

THOR HARRIS

Thor Harris is a drummer and multi-instrumentalist who moved to Austin in 1985 and joined HAAM in 2005. His love of music came early.

"When I was about 10 years old, my sister started playing me records—Motown, soul, the Jackson 5—and for the first time in my life, I was passionate about something," he said.

Thor has been a part of dozens of bands and spent years touring the world with the Swans. Here in Austin, he is the founder of the modern classical group, Thor and Friends.

He works 20-25 hours per week, just enough to help him afford to live in Austin, but not too much that he can't focus on music. "If you work an eight-hour job, you are not going to have any time for artistic pursuits," he said.

THE FACT THAT I CAN CALL HAAM AND TALK TO A REAL HUMAN BEING THAT REALLY WANTS TO NAVIGATE THE HEALTHCARE SYSTEM WITH ME IS AMAZING. WHEN YOU DEAL WITH HAAM YOU ARE DEALING WITH PEOPLE WHO ACTUALLY WANT TO HELP YOU.

In HAAM's early days, Thor sought medical care at a Seton community clinic in East Austin. After the passage of the Affordable Care Act, HAAM shifted its delivery model and started to help members navigate Marketplace insurance plans and find affordable insurance coverage.

"The government website to sign up for health insurance was so clunky and hard to navigate. HAAM was smart enough to know that if they didn't walk us through the system, musicians wouldn't sign up," he said. "The support I got from HAAM and Foundation Communities navigating healthcare.gov was and continues to be amazing."

Thor counts himself as lucky to be among the 95% of HAAM members who were insured in 2025. He's also among the 87% of HAAM members who receive premium assistance.

Thor says the assistance he gets from HAAM with his premiums is hugely helpful, but he's nervous about the future.

"I hope I have healthcare next year. We are all terrified, but HAAM helped us get healthcare before Obamacare. I know they have our back now," he said.

Firmly rooted in East Austin, Thor sits on the board of a local nonprofit that supports affordable housing in the neighborhood. He is both amazed and relieved that young musicians continue to move to Austin despite rising rents.

"It's gotten much harder for artists to afford to live here but they are still coming and forming super interesting bands," he said. "The music culture in Austin is something special. It's not just the musicians who continue to move here, it's that there are people who will go out to see live music every night of the week."

GREATER AUSTIN YMCA

Thor is one of 359 HAAM members who have taken advantage of special pricing to join the Greater Austin YMCA. Nearly every day, Thor rides his bike four miles to the Y to lift weights. He loves the community vibe at the YMCA and the fact that members come from all walks of life. Special membership pricing is just one of the wellness benefits available to all HAAM members.

THANK YOU HAAMBASSADORS

"MY FAVORITE PART OF VOLUNTEERING IS HEARING FROM THE MUSICIANS HOW IT'S AFFECTED THEM. AT ONE OF MY FIRST EVENTS, AFTER THE LAST SONG, THE DRUMMER FOR THE BAND CAME OFF STAGE, AND WALKED ACROSS THE ROOM TO THE HAAM TABLE WHERE A FEW OF US WERE HANDING OUT KOOZIES AND SHAKING THE DONATION BOX. HE PULLED UP HIS SHIRT AND POINTED AT SOME RECENT SURGICAL SCARS... "WITHOUT YOU GUYS, I'D BE DEAD, OR BANKRUPT, OR BOTH."

Kurt Richter, HAAM volunteer with 322.5 hours of service

"AS A NURSE, HELPING PEOPLE IS JUST PART OF MY DNA. VOLUNTEERING WITH HAAM LETS ME KEEP GIVING — THIS TIME TO THE MUSICIANS WHO MAKE LIFE A LITTLE BRIGHTER FOR ALL OF US."

Cindy Jaso, HAAM volunteer with 220 hours of service
